UNION AND AMERICAN. FARM AND GARDEN.

LICE ON COLTS.

No other farm stock is more subject to lice than colts. Visiting a farm which belongs to the writer, in Knox county, of this State, a few days since, the first thing that attracted our attention was a lot of lousy colts around a stack of wheat straw. These voracious and multitudinous parasites do vastly more barm to colts, calves, and other neat cattle, hogs and poultry, than is generally believed. They favor all diseases, and all possible evils from low or scant feeding, killing thousands of stock, to the serious loss of farmers, and steadily consuming blood and flesh which are money to the husbandman. Feed sulphur in meal with a little salt. Wash (not itoo copiously) with strong tobacco water to remove lice.

Grangers who may reasonably hope to do a better business than raising these and other parasites in large numbers, will act wisely to buy salt and sulphur at wholesale prices. A dollar saved is equal to a dollar made by raising corn or cotton, and it does not hurt the soil half as much. Sound economy is the corner-stone of successful agriculture. If you fear mites on chicks, put a little sulphur in their dough. Learn to make all young stock do first rate, knowing that young life is a wonderful power in the hands of science and industry. It is the life in all seeds and animals that multiplies their value to mankind.

SHOULD WE HAVE LARGE OR

EMALL FARMS! It would be difficult to find an indus trial, political or social question more important to the well being of families, and society as a whole, than the one placed at the head of this article. From the time when William the Norman invaded and conquered England. (to go no further back) and divided the territory among his generals, to descend to their heirs as a perpetual inheritance, land-monopoly has had miltee great prominence in the progress of civilization. The founders of our republican system wisely climinated the English constitutional rights of entail and primogeniture, as before applied to the rebel colonies. This family monopoly of American soil was not agreeable. But the activity, ambition and profound cunning of the spirit of insatiable grasping after the honors and pleasures that wealth and power bestow, give a high artificial value to every species of monopoly. Intrinsically there may be no harm in the fact that a few families own all the arable land. in England and Scotland; and that a comparatively few men, like Astor, Stewart and Vanderbilt, may own the soil of the United States. As reaction as always equal to direct action, and one extreme follows another, in the very nature of things, Rome was compelled to have her agrarian law, and when that was defeated by despotism, the empire went to ruin.

God governs the universe, not man, except to a very limited extent. Supreme government is one of general laws; and on this principle large farms, considering the policy and system as a whole appear to be unwise and harmful. Land monopoly may withdraw from privetillage and productive husbandry indefinite millions of acres, whose cultivation is demanded by the public good. The people of the United States are forced down to a lower average standard of comfort, education and improvement, than they would enjoy provided their common interest in the soil and climate of their country was properly studied and handled. Ignorance, pure and simple, makes a thousand million acres of our fertile land wholly unproductive of any annual ron, and not one person in a thousand knows why. We should confess our ig- | would be consistent with the interests of morance of the great sciences of good the people for the next two years. ## SPRING WORK ON THE PARTISOW

CLOVEB SEED. Although the first spring month has not arrived, spring plowing and seeding has commenced in the South, and our agricultural friends are very busy in doing their part to secure bountiful harvests. Every one should sow, or try to sow, good clover seed on his wheat fields to give him additional pasture and hay, and to improve the land. As a fertilizer, no known commercial manure, nor stable manure hauled a baif mile, is as cheap as a chair) led off in advocacy of the bill, and erop of clover. The roots of this was followed in an earnest argument favorpiont are generally large, rich in phosphases and assimilable nitrogen, penetrate dos, into the soil and subsoil, and when they rot, leave open tubes in which air, water and all fertilizing gas pass freely. ### DIRT CHEAP FARE.

One Bollar From Louisville or Cinclunati to St. Louis-The Railway War Likely to be Long and Obtti-Bt. Louis Democrat, Feb. 23.

"It is an ill wind that blows nobody good," and when railway magnates quarrel, the public sometimes reap the benefit. Since John W. Garrett, the President of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, wrote his dispatch to President Scott, on the 15th inst., the railroad world has been in a state of ferment. The merits of the question in dispute between Presidents Garrett and Scott is not of much interest to the community at large, excepting so far as it enables them to travel at less cost than formerly. The dispute, which originally affected only freight, has become so bitter that the passanger rates have been lowered for the purpose of getting another weapon of warfare to use in the struggle. Meanwhile the cities of St. Louis, Cincinnati and Louisville are having a railroad fight of their own, which began long before the Scott-Garrett matter was heard of. On the 17th of January last the Ohio and Mississippi road reduced their passenger rate between St. Louis and Cincinnati and St. Louis and Louisville to one-half of their former rate, which was $10 and mak-The Vandalia officials state that the Ohio and Mississippl Company did this because the Vandalia line had put on a through sleeping car. The Ohio and Mississippi people deny this, stating that the real reason for the reduction was that he Vandalia line adopted the same course ast summer, selling tickets to the same points for half rates during one week, when they returned to the ordinary charges. These $5 tickets have now been selling by the Ohio and Mississippi road since the date mentioned, Jan. 17, the Vandalia road taking no notice of it, and issuing their tickets at the usual rates.

But on Sunday last the Vandalia Comany reduced their fare to $1 between Ciuanati and St. Louis, as well as to Louisille. Their opponents have not followed snit, and assert that it is not their intention to do so; that they can run the $5 tickets and make it pay, and intend to fight it out on that line of it takes all the winter and summer, whereas, they assert that their opponents cannot long stand the present nons rate of $1.

What is called the Vandalia Line i formed by the J., M. and I. and Vandalia lines from St. Louis to Louisville, and the C. and I. and Vandalia, between Cincinnati and St. Louis, the respective branc'es centering at Indianapolis. For about four years through cars have been can to Louisville; but, until within the ast four weeks, there has been no through train via the L., C. and L. from Cincinnati to that city. In the meantime, the O. and M. has been regularly running through cars from both cities, claiming, according to our information, the exclusive right to run a through train from Cincinnati, on the ground of a shorter route. Whatever may be the legal points, or whether there are any for such a claim, we venture no dgment. The difference in the distance is thirteen miles in favor of the Ohio and Mississippi Railway; time, twenty minutes. The travel on the respective lines, it s claimed, has been about equal. How long this little skirmish will last it is impossible to say, but one or both of the parties will probably soon get tired of the

The Vandalia Company do not sell a sket for $1, but the ticket is sold at the ordinary rate, $10, and is accompanied by check or order on the cashier at the other and for $0, which order must be presented for payment within twenty-four hours of the time of its issue, which time, with the name of the holder, is written upon it. The object of this plan is apparent: first, o preserve the local rates, and then to prevent speculation. It is possible now to get to New York from St. Louis for $12, and from Chicago to New York for $10.

See Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing the certificates of many persons of the highest respectability, who have been restored to health. after being pronounced incurable by physicians of acknowledged ability. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrap alone has cured many, as these evidence will show; but the care is often promoted by the employment of two other remedies which Dr. Schenck provides for the purpose.
